

Exclusions Policy

Phoenix Community Primary School

Author: James Tibbles (Headteacher)

Ratified by the Governing Body: March 2016

Due for Review: March 2019

Phoenix Community Primary School is an Inclusive school, committed in policy and practice to recognition of the equal value of each member of the community and to equality of opportunity for all.

Exclusions from the school community, whether fixed term or permanent are damaging to a pupil's self-esteem. They diminish the sense of belonging to the community. As such they are used sparingly and only as part of an overall behaviour strategy which seeks to develop a culture of inclusion, ownership of and responsibility for one's own behaviour.

All pupils will be made aware that verbal abuse, physical abuse and threatening behaviour which not only compromises their own personal health and safety and learning but also the health and safety and learning of others in our school is not acceptable. This type of behaviour may result in fixed term or permanent exclusion.

The school seeks to avoid permanent exclusions. These take place only for very serious incidents or when all other strategies have been tried and have failed over time. Fixed term exclusions are used when other strategies and sanctions have not been effective over time or when there has been a single clear and serious breach of discipline.

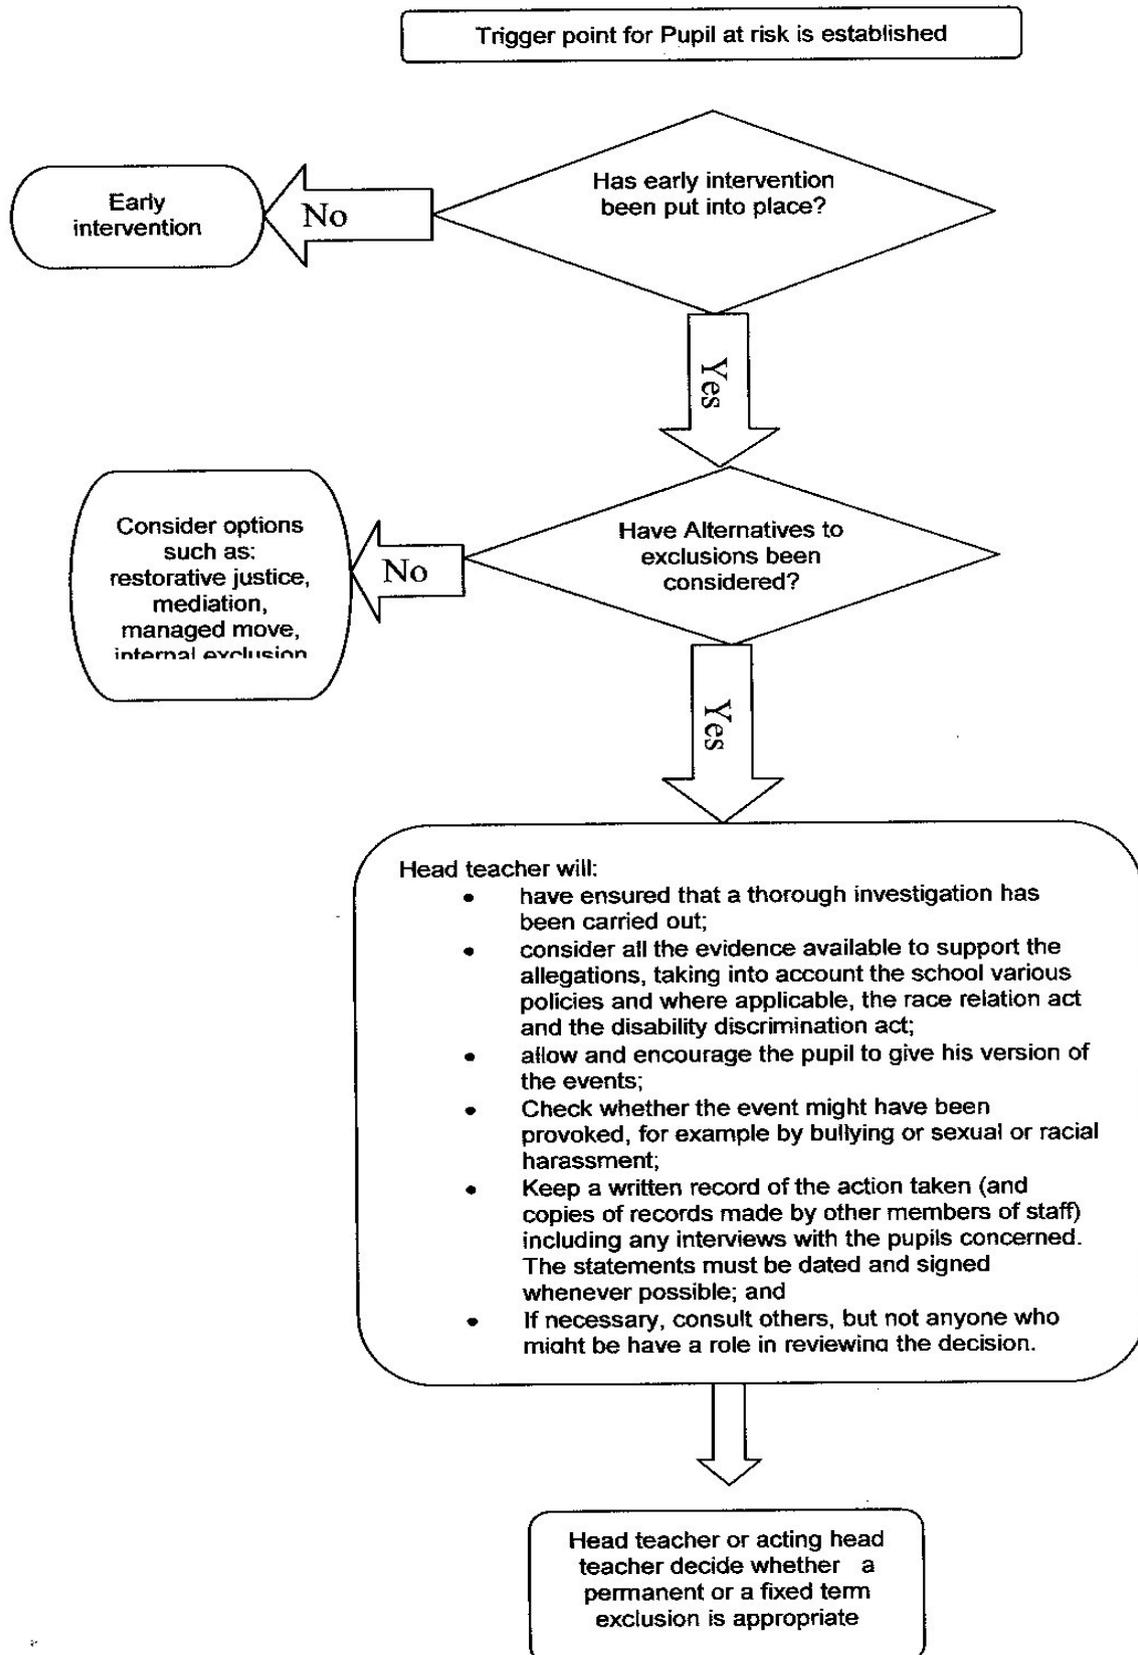

In all cases the Headteacher gathers the opinions and takes advice from staff who are working with a pupil. The Headteacher may delegate some responsibility to the Deputy Headteacher for fixed term exclusions. The Headteacher makes the decision to proceed to permanent exclusion.

Any exclusion is reported to the Chair of the Governing Body and the LA.

In taking any step towards excluding a pupil we follow the current procedural guidance given by the Department for Education as well as KCC guidelines.

Flowchart of Exclusion Process

Decision: Head teacher, acting head teacher, or teacher in charge of a PRU takes the decision to exclude a pupil for a fixed period.

Contact parent: The head teacher should ensure that a parent/carer has been contacted immediately, ideally by telephone and is available, if appropriate, to arrange collection and supervision of the pupil. The child's welfare must always be the prime consideration

Lunchtime exclusion: Pupils who are disruptive during the lunch time may be excluded just for the duration of the lunch time. Lunchtime exclusion will count as half a day for statistical purpose and for parents to make representation but are not counted in the school's 6th day duty to provide full-time

Exclusion during morning session: the exclusion takes effect from the afternoon session, notice must be given to the parent before the start of the afternoon session.

Exclusion during afternoon session:

- if the exclusion takes effect from the next school day. Notice to the parent must be given before the start of that school day.
- If the exclusion takes place from that afternoon, the notice must be given at the end of the afternoon session

Written notice: The head teacher must give a written notice to the parents informing them of:

- the precise period and the reasons of the exclusion;
- the parent's duties during the first five days;
- the parents right to make representation to the Governing body and how the pupil may be involved in this;
- The person the parent should contact if they wish to make such representation;
- The arrangement made by the school to set and mark work for the pupil during the initial 5 days of the exclusion;
- if relevant, the school day on which the pupil will be provided with full-time education; and
- if relevant details of a reintegration interview.

The head must inform the Governing Body if a pupil is being excluded for more than 15 days in any one term. Pupil's can excluded for one or more fixed periods, which when aggregated, do not exceed 45 school days in any one school year.

Educational provision during the exclusion:

- The school has a duty to arrange suitable full-time educational provision from and including the 6th consecutive day of the exclusion.
- Where a Looked After Child is excluded provision should be in place from the 1st day of exclusion.
- Schools in the former BIP still receiving additional funding should make provision from the first day of exclusion.

Reintegration interview:

The head teacher or a senior member of staff should arrange and conduct a reintegration interview with a parent and the pupil at the end of the exclusion at a date and time convenient for the parent on the school premises.

The notice for a reintegration interview must be given no later than 6 school days before the date of the interview (it can be combined with the notice of the exclusion).

If the parent fails to attend, the school must keep a record of the failure as well as any explanation given as it can be one factor taken into account in the Magistrates' Court when deciding whether to impose a parenting order.

Primary: School must offer a reintegration interview after any exclusion

Secondary: School must offer a reintegration interview for an exclusion of 6 or more school days.

If the school or the LA considers that parental influence could be better brought to bear in the behaviour of the pupil, a parenting contract may be offered. If the parent fails to engage with the school or LA in attempting to improve the child's behaviour, the school or LA may consider applying to the Magistrate's Court to compel the parent to comply with certain requirements. See related guidance.
